

Past seasons wins are added to current season wins to determine Dos Bowl playoff contention, which is played in addition to and directly after the standard fantasy football playoffs. Normally the fantasy football season ends when the regular season ends, but the dos bowl is played during the NFL playoffs, using the smaller pool of available players in the playoffs.

To make the Dos Bowl playoffs either 1) win the standard fantasy football playoffs which will guarantee a spot regardless of wins/points 2) place in the top 5 of the combined 2-year standings (excluding the winner in step 1).

Year 1	No Dos Bowl Playoffs
Year 2	Standard fantasy football playoff champions from year 1 and current year qualify. The remaining 4 slots filled by descending wins.
Year 3	Current year champion qualifies, remaining 5 slots filled by descending wins.

Regular Season Rules

- Random Draft Order. Snake Draft.
- Each regular season win counts towards Dos Bowl cumulative standings (15 total Weeks).
- Post-season wins don't count towards the Dos Bowl standings (3 Total Weeks).
- First place in standard fantasy playoffs get automatic admission to Dos Bowl.
- Completely new teams each year.

DOS BOWL SCHEDULE

Played over the first 3 weeks of the NFL Playoffs.

WEEK 1 - QUARTER FINALS

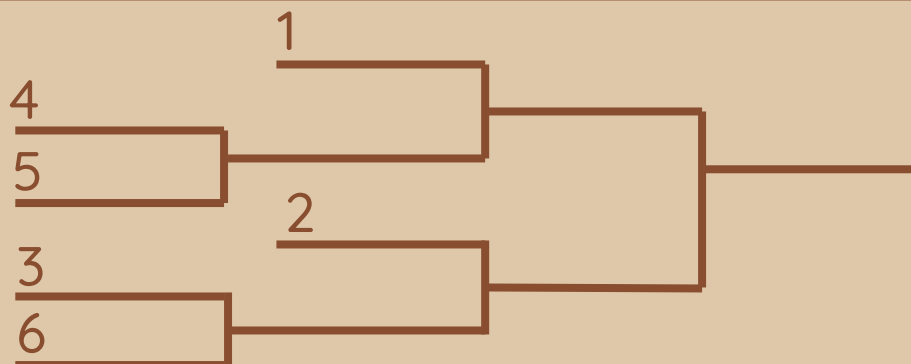

There are 12 NFL teams playing this week.
Seeds 3-6 will draft 5 players.
All 4 people draft from same pool of players.

WEEK 2 - SEMI FINALS

There are 8 NFL teams playing this week.
Each remaining person drafts 4 players.
All 4 people draft from same pool of players.

WEEK 3 - CHAMPIONSHIP

There are 4 NFL teams playing this week.
Each person drafts 4 players.
The Championship and 3rd place games will take place but each game drafts players from separate pools. (unlike in previous weeks, a player can be in both the championship game and the 3rd place game)

- Redraft new teams each week.
- Must have exactly 1 QB.
- Snake draft.
- Ordered by desc win count, people chose their position in the draft order.
- Seeding is based on 2-year standings.
- Total Points are used as Tie-Breakers.